Acknowledgement of Country

The University of Melbourne acknowledges the Traditional Owners of the unceded land on which we work, learn and live: the Wurundjeri Woi Wurrung and Bunurong peoples (Burnley, Fishermans Bend, Parkville, Southbank and Werribee campuses), the Yorta Yorta Nation (Dookie and Shepparton campuses), and the Dja Dja Wurrung people (Creswick campus).

The University also acknowledges and is grateful to the Traditional Owners, Elders and Knowledge Holders of all Indigenous nations and clans who have been instrumental in our reconciliation journey.

We recognise the unique place held by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as the original owners and custodians of the lands and waterways across the Australian continent, with histories of continuous connection dating back more than 60,000 years. We also acknowledge their enduring cultural practices of caring for Country.
The Faculty of Arts

The Faculty of Arts at the University of Melbourne is widely recognised as Australia’s leading centre for the study of the Humanities and Social Sciences.

The Faculty of Arts is committed to creating a workplace where equity, diversity and inclusion are celebrated and everyone is treated fairly, regardless of gender, sexuality, ability, ethnicity, religion or age. People with diverse experiences and especially Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders and other First Nation people are strongly encouraged to apply.

If you have any accessibility or other requirements for the application or interview, please contact us. We are dedicated to ensuring barrier free and inclusive practices to recruit the most talented candidates. A position description is available in alternate formats if required, including large print.

The Faculty of Arts brings together leading scholars across 40 disciplines of study in the Humanities and Social Sciences. Our academic staff are of international standing and committed to excellence in teaching and research.

The Faculty is home to the University’s first degree, the Bachelor of Arts, which is one of the most sought-after degrees in Australia, consistently attracting outstanding students from around the country and internationally. Our teaching programs encourage critical inquiry, creativity, global perspectives and the questioning of ideas. In 2016, the Faculty opened Arts West – an award-winning building in the heart of the historic campus and a new home for the Bachelor of Arts. Arts West supports active and informal learning through object-based learning laboratories and purpose-built teaching spaces which has transformed teaching and learning in the Humanities and Social Sciences, setting a new benchmark in the Asia region.

Our Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences offers 19 professionally oriented Masters programs, including Arts and Cultural Management, Applied Linguistics, Global Media Communication, International Relations and Public Policy and Management. The Graduate School also houses our outstanding PhD program.

Over its 150-year history, the Faculty has produced leaders in a wide range of fields, including government, business, creative industries and media, community and not-for-profit organisations. The Faculty maintains strong strategic relationships with leading international universities through joint teaching collaborations, research projects and student exchange programs. Partnerships with government, not-for-profit and private organisations facilitate work integrated learning opportunities for our students and research collaboration with our researchers. The Faculty has an active and vibrant outreach program, promoting lifelong learning in the Humanities and Social Sciences.

Our community includes over 700 academic and professional staff, 13,000 students across undergraduate, graduate coursework and research higher degree programs, and a strong and active alumni population of over 70,000 worldwide.

Alongside the Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences, the Faculty consists of five interdisciplinary Schools:

Asia Institute – the University’s key centre for study in Asian languages and cultures, with programs including Arabic, Chinese, Indonesian and Japanese languages, alongside Asian, Islamic and Contemporary Chinese Studies.

School of Culture and Communication – with programs in Art History and Curatorship, Arts and Cultural Management, Indigenous Studies, Creative Writing, English and Theatre Studies, Media and Communications, Publishing and Communications, Journalism, and Screen and Cultural Studies.

School of Historical and Philosophical Studies – encompassing History, History and Philosophy of Science, Philosophy, Jewish and Hebrew Studies, Conservation and Classics and Archaeology.
School of Languages and Linguistics – includes French, German, Italian, Russian and Spanish languages and culture studies, alongside European studies, Latin American studies and Linguistics, Applied Linguistics and English as a Second Language.

School of Social and Political Sciences – with programs in Anthropology and Development Studies, Criminology, Political Science, and Sociology and Social Policy.

FACULTY OF ARTS STRATEGY

Under the leadership of Professor Russell Goulbourne, we have launched a Faculty of Arts Strategy focusing on:

- Transformative learning
- Research that makes a difference
- Partnerships that add value
- Support for all staff

Mission

The Faculty of Arts is committed to benefiting the peoples, cultures and economies of Melbourne, Australia, the region and the world.

We do this across our distinctively broad range of Humanities and Social Sciences disciplines by creating, transforming and sharing knowledge that deepens and enriches understanding of what it means to be human and by developing graduates whose skills, values and empathy enable them to shape better, fairer and more sustainable societies.

Values and Behaviours

We expect all our staff to commit to our values of:

- Rigour and integrity, generosity and humility, intellectual freedom and critical independence
- Diversity and inclusion, trust and mutual respect, social justice and civic responsibility
- Courage and creativity, openness and transparency, environmental sustainability.

Vision

Building on our achievements to date, by 2025 the Faculty of Arts will be:

- the leading faculty of our kind in the Asia-Pacific region and one of the most compelling in the world, known above all for the difference we make locally, nationally, regionally and globally
- home to a dynamic, diverse and inclusive community of staff and students who are committed to achieving our full potential by working together and with our partners in a spirit of courageous generosity
- transformed by recognising and engaging the ways of knowing held by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, on whose land we work

Position Summary

The position of Research Unit Project Officer is integral to the Research Unit for Indigenous Language (RUIL) within the School of Languages and Linguistics. The RUIL is a research hub which brings together world class researchers from across the University working in the areas of Indigenous language description and documentation in Australia and its region. The Unit provides a dynamic research environment through its diverse research, research training, and engagement activities, and works actively with Indigenous communities across Australia and the region to expand and strengthen Indigenous language research, and to support efforts by communities to maintain their linguistic and cultural heritage.

The incumbent will provide assistance to RUIL members in the overall running of the Research Unit, project management of the Unit’s engagement activities, and research assistance support where required. He/she will work closely with the Unit Director and RUIL researchers to provide services relating to the incubation and development of new research projects; this may include: project scoping and briefings, partner liaison, planning and budgeting, and literature searches. You will be responsible for special projects and engagement activities within the Unit, including project management of symposia and conferences, website maintenance, putting together the biannual newsletter and assisting the Unit’s Director in developing the Unit’s strategic and operational plans.

The Research Project Officer reports to the Director, Research Unit for Indigenous Language and the Manager, School of Languages and Linguistics.

Key Responsibilities

RUIL OPERATIONAL SUPPORT

- Provide high level administrative support of daily operations, including dealing with inquiries, planning team meetings, and providing administrative support for the Director as appropriate;
- Support the Unit to publicise its activities through social media and the web. Liaise with relevant University Services to promote the Unit and align relevant branding policies and guidelines;
- Organisation of public lecture series, workshops, public symposia and conferences;
- Develop and maintain the Unit’s website, content management systems and document sharing platforms;
- Produce the Unit’s newsletters (2-3 per year), including planning of content, layout design and distribution;
- Administer the Unit’s small grants scheme for Indigenous researchers;
- Promotion and dissemination of information relating to events and activities of the Unit both within the University to academic and post-graduate students, and to the general public where applicable;
- Assist the Centre Director to prepare Unit Reports as appropriate;
- Contribute to the School of Languages and Linguistics and Faculty of Arts Professional staff meetings, School activities and Professional staff planning days as required.

RESEARCH AND STRATEGIC SUPPORT

- Assist with the management of the 50 Words project including community liaison;
- Ensure that Unit researchers are aware and informed of internal and external funding opportunities, including seeding funds, philanthropic trusts and category 2-3;
Liaise with relevant support services to assist CIs in the preparation of grant applications where appropriate;

Development of Special Project proposals in collaboration with the Director;

Working with the Arts Research Office, assist the Director and Unit researchers in establishing and servicing partnerships with industry, government and Indigenous communities, including preparing reports, arranging meetings, documenting outcomes and monitoring budgets;

Assist the Unit Director in developing the Unit’s strategic and operational plan;

Provide research assistance to the Director and RUIL team members as appropriate.

SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS

- Occupational Health and Safety (OH&S) and Environmental Health and Safety (EH&S) responsibilities as outlined below.

Selection Criteria

ESSENTIAL

- Education or training in Humanities or Social Sciences and/or equivalent mix of education and relevant experience

- Demonstrated capacity and confidence to work with clients both internally (with professional staff, senior academics and researchers) and externally with members of Indigenous communities and industry partners;

- High level organisational and administrative skills, with experience in working with dispersed project teams;

- Demonstrated ability to prioritise work efficiently and meet deadlines while working across multiple projects;

- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills, including written and oral communication, with an ability to tailor information to a number of different audiences including, academic, administrative, industry and general public;

- Strong computer literacy including proficiency in the Microsoft Office suite and a demonstrable familiarity with multimedia.

DESIRABLE

- Familiarity with the research culture at the University of Melbourne, including an understanding of the University’s policies and procedures pertaining to research, compliance and reporting structures;

- Experience in production of online content and website maintenance;

- Familiarity with layout design and relevant software packages.

SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS

- The responsibilities associated with the position may require regional or interstate travel for short periods of time. The Officer may also be required to work outside business hours on special events.

Job Complexity Skills, Knowledge

LEVEL OF SUPERVISION / INDEPENDENCE

The position works under the general instruction of the Director of RUIL. The incumbent is expected to work with a good level of independence, be self-motivated, and well able to prioritise work inflows and plan effectively. The position requires some initiative, the ability to work without direct supervision, and a capacity to work effectively in a team, sharing expertise, resources and information pertaining to the administration of the RUIL and its strategic development.

PROBLEM SOLVING AND JUDGEMENT

The incumbent is required to possess highly developed problem-solving skills at both a strategic and administrative level. They will be required to manage, process and respond to information received from multiple sources in a timely and efficient manner. The position demands that the incumbent demonstrate well-reasoned judgement, sound common-sense and strategic understandings of the changing environment of competitive research cultures, and be able to respond effectively to changing internal and external procedures and requirements. The position requires strong skills in working collaboratively to initiate, support and maintain academic and indigenous partner relationships.

PROFESSIONAL AND ORGANISATIONAL KNOWLEDGE

The position requires knowledge of the University of Melbourne’s practices and policies in operation that relate to the work of the Unit and familiarity with academic research practices and cultures within the School of Languages and Linguistics. The position requires that the incumbent work effectively with a range of professional and academic staff across the School, Faculty and University, and be able to sustain a high-level of professionalism in relation to the presentation of information.

BREADTH OF THE POSITION

The incumbent is responsible for a broad range of tasks, and for effective liaison with a wide range of internal and external stakeholders. The position encompasses both day-to-day operational management and collaborative strategic development in consultation with the Unit Director. The incumbent is expected to build strong professional networks designed to support and maintain the Unit’s research profile and projects.

Equal Opportunity, Diversity & Inclusion

The University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to providing a workplace free from all forms of unlawful discrimination, harassment, bullying, vilification and victimisation. The University makes decisions on employment, promotion and reward on the basis of merit. The University is committed to all aspects of equal opportunity, diversity and inclusion in the workplace and to providing all staff, students, contractors, honorary appointees, volunteers and visitors with a safe, respectful and rewarding environment free from all forms of unlawful discrimination, harassment, vilification and victimisation. This commitment is set out in the Advancing Melbourne strategy that addresses diversity and inclusion, equal employment opportunity, discrimination, sexual harassment, bullying and appropriate workplace behaviour. All staff are required to comply with all University policies.

The University values diversity because we recognise that the differences in our people’s age, race, ethnicity, culture, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, physical ability, and background bring richness to our work environment. Consequently, the People Strategy sets out the strategic aim to drive diversity and inclusion across the University to create an environment where the compounding benefits of a diverse workforce are recognised as vital in our continuous desire to strive for excellence and reach the targets of Advancing Melbourne.

Occupational Health & Safety (OHS)

All staff are required to take reasonable care for their own health and safety and that of other people who may be affected by their conduct.

OHS responsibilities applicable to positions are published here.

These include general staff responsibilities and those additional responsibilities that apply for Managers and Supervisors and other staff.
The University of Melbourne

Established in 1853, the University of Melbourne is a public-spirited institution with an outstanding reputation for excellence in research, learning and teaching, and engagement.

Ranked number 34 in the latest Times Higher Education World University Rankings*, Melbourne competes on an international stage with the best institutions globally and has an international outlook and reach to match.

With a rich history stretching over 160 years, the University of Melbourne also occupies a special place in the heart of the city. Since its founding in 1853, the University has been committed to making distinctive contributions to intellectual, cultural, social and economic life in the region and beyond. These values underpin the University’s entire academic mission and shape operating practices, preparing engaged graduates and steering research that advances the world.

With a wide range of disciplines, the University of Melbourne currently educates over 52,000+ students from over 130 countries. The University comprises nine Academic Divisions providing learning that stimulates, challenges and fulfils the potential of excellent students from around the world, leading to personal development, meaningful careers and profound contributions to society.

The alumni network is significant and truly international, with representation from 160 countries. This international community includes former Prime Ministers, Governors General, and Nobel Laureates, and is a testament to the world-class education the University of Melbourne delivers.

THE MELBOURNE MODEL

Building on long-standing traditions of leadership and innovation in teaching and embracing international developments in curriculum design, the University introduced the Melbourne Model in 2008. The distinctive educational model offers degrees in three broad cycles. At Bachelor level, students select from one of six broad degrees and a limited number of specialist offerings. These programs lay the intellectual foundations for future employment or further study. Most professional qualifications are subsequently offered at Masters level, where students can choose from a variety of professional or specialist graduate programs offering intensive graduate-level experiences that promote deep professional learning. At Doctoral level, students work alongside and are nurtured by international research leaders in a broad range of fields.

The Melbourne Model’s curriculum combines academic breadth with disciplinary depth to strategically reposition the University in an increasingly globalised higher education framework. The University prepares its students to enter a world marked by rapid change where graduates must possess the applicable knowledge, and flexible and adaptable skills, to succeed.
The University of Melbourne’s Strategic Plan 2020 – 2030

Advancing Melbourne

The University’s strategic direction is grounded in its purpose. While its expression may change, our purpose is enduring: to benefit society through the transformative impact of education and research. Together, the vision and purpose inform the focus and scale of our aspirations for the coming decade.

Advancing Melbourne reflects the University’s commitment to its people, its place, and its partners. Our aspiration for 2030 is to be known as a world-leading and globally connected Australian university, with our students at the heart of everything we do.

- We will deliver this through building a brilliant, diverse and vibrant University community, with strong connections to those we serve.

The means for achieving these goals include the development of the University of Melbourne’s academic and professional staff and the capabilities needed to support a modern, world class university. Those means require a commitment to ongoing financial sustainability and an ambitious infrastructure program which will reshape the campus and our contribution to the communities we engage with. This strategy, and the priorities proposed, is centred around five intersecting themes; place, community, education, discovery and global.

- We will offer students a distinctive and outstanding education and experience, preparing them for success as leaders, change agents and global citizens.

- We will be recognised locally and globally for our leadership on matters of national and global importance, through outstanding research and scholarship and a commitment to collaboration.

- We will be empowered by our sense of place and connections with communities. We will take opportunities to advance both the University and the City of Melbourne in close collaboration and synergy.
People and Benefits

The University is committed to providing an intellectually stimulating and personally rewarding workplace which attracts people who are the best in their professional, academic and teaching fields. Outstanding academic staff are at the heart of the University’s teaching, research and engagement endeavours. The University is proud of its many staff that have been recognised through prestigious national and international awards and through membership of Australia’s learned academicians. Among the many scholars of international renown at the University is the winner of the Nobel Prize — Professor Peter Doherty (Physiology and Medicine) and many other public intellectuals and scientific leaders.

The Benefits

The University offers staff more than just a job — it offers them an opportunity to be part of a dynamic world class organisation which provides its staff with exceptional benefits and support at every stage of their life and career.

- Working in a culturally inclusive environment
- Engaging in an active and vibrant campus life
- A focus on health and wellbeing
- Outstanding staff benefits in addition to competitive salary packages

Staff benefits on offer at the University include the opportunity to salary package everything from childcare and additional superannuation to subscriptions to the Melbourne Theatre Company. Benefits can be tailored to best suit individual needs and circumstances, including generous relocation support.

The University also offers a family friendly environment for individuals that need increased flexibility, providing generous leave and working conditions. The University has been recognised as an employer of choice for women and is one of 40 organisations to participate in the Science in Australia Gender Equity (SAGE) pilot program of Athena SWAN in Australia.

Living and Working in Melbourne

Geography

Melbourne is the capital city of Victoria and the second largest city in Australia. It is set around the shores of Port Phillip Bay and sits beside the Yarra River, around five kilometres from the bay.

Melbourne is home to over 5 million people and has a metropolitan area of 9990.5 km². The Economist Intelligence Unit has frequently rated Melbourne amongst the world’s most liveable cities city, based on its education, entertainment, health care, research and development, tourism and sport.

The City of Melbourne municipality, in which the University’s main Parkville campus is based, covers 37.7 km² and has a population of more than 159,000 people. It includes the city centre and a number of attractive inner suburbs with thriving communities and businesses.

The City of Melbourne is home to residents from 180 countries who speak more than 233 languages and dialects and follow 116 religious faiths. The Wurundjeri, Boonwurrung, Taungurong, Dja Dja Wurrung and the Wathaurung people of the Kulin Nation are the Traditional Owners of the land now known by its European name of Melbourne.

The City of Melbourne is recognised as Australia’s cultural capital with a number of world-class galleries and museums, internationally renowned food and wine regions, and an impressive year-round calendar of events catering for all tastes.
