ORGANISATIONAL CONTEXT

At Monash, work feels different. There’s a sense of belonging, from contributing to something groundbreaking – a place where great things happen. You know you’re part of something special and purposeful because, like Monash, your ambitions drive you to make change.

We have a clear purpose to deliver ground-breaking intensive research; a world-class education; a global ecosystem of enterprise – and we activate these to address some of the challenges of the age, Climate Change, Thriving Communities and Geopolitical Security.

We welcome and value difference and diversity. When you come to work, you can be yourself, be a change-maker and develop your career in exciting ways with curious, energetic, inspiring and committed people and teams driven to make an impact – just like you.

Together with our commitment to academic freedom, you will have access to quality research facilities, infrastructure, world class teaching spaces, and international collaboration opportunities.

We champion an inclusive workplace culture for our staff regardless of ethnicity or cultural background. We have also worked to improve gender equality for more than 30 years. Join the pursuit of our purpose to build a better future for ourselves and our communities – #ChangeIt with us.

The Monash Law Faculty was established 60 years ago to be a different kind of law school, with a pioneering spirit, an enterprising and inclusive approach, and a deep commitment to access to justice in all of its forms.

What do we stand for? Exemplary academic standards, rigorous research, innovation, thought-leadership, worldwide strategic partnerships and justice for all. Our publicly declared ambition is to offer the best broad-based and experiential legal education available to law students and become a leading international, clinical and digital law school in the Indo-Pacific region. We aim to produce talented legal thinkers who have strong ethical, forensic and practical legal skills that can be applied to creatively solve real-world problems. We invest in premium facilities worthy of our world-class students and staff, such as our renowned clinical sites, state-of-the art moot court, and contemporary, student-centred learning environments.

Monash Law is the only Australian law school to operate from seven different locations on three continents, and with significant investment in three community legal centres. Our commitment to local communities and the local legal profession is as deep as our commitment to preparing our students and supporting our academics to make a difference. We also have our dedicated Monash University Law Chambers situated in the heart of the Melbourne legal and judicial district that complements our Clayton base and legal clinics.

The Faculty has a vibrant research culture, with a strong commitment to diverse and innovative forms of high quality and cross-disciplinary legal research that has a governmental, professional, and social impact. We collaborate with world leaders in legal research and education throughout Australia and internationally and have demonstrated top-tier research-intensive performance. Our staff are involved in ARC Discovery and Linkage grants and CRC projects. The Faculty also has several world-class research centres - the Castan Centre for Human Rights Law, the Australian Centre for Justice Innovation, the Centre for Commercial Law and Regulatory Studies, and Eleos Justice on capital punishment - and also several energetic research groups. Faculty staff are actively engaged in research including cross disciplinary research that supports Monash's ten-year strategic plan Impact 2030.

We are proud of our world-class and high-profile alumni who have become leaders in their chosen professions within Australia and worldwide. They may be found in most courts, in a variety of businesses and industries, and the various arms of the legal profession, with some having an ongoing involvement in the Faculty.

The Faculty has strong alliances with other world-class law schools in both education and research initiatives, some of whom partner to teach with us at our campuses in Prato (Italy) and Malaysia.
