The Faculty of Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences is the University's largest research faculty. World-class researchers work across disciplines including laboratory-based medical science, applied clinical research, and social and public health research. The Faculty is home to a number of leading medical and biomedical research institutes and groups, and has contributed to advances in many crucial areas. Our expertise in life sciences and biomedicine is recognised both nationally and internationally.

From a teaching perspective, our education curriculum covers a range of disciplines, including medicine, nursing, radiography and medical imaging, nutrition and dietetics, paramedic studies, biomedical sciences, physiotherapy, occupational therapy, behavioural neurosciences and social work. We take pride in delivering outstanding education in all courses, in opening students to the possibilities offered by newly discovered knowledge and in providing a nurturing and caring environment. Monash Rural Health (MRH) is a school within the Faculty of Medicine Nursing and Health Sciences that carries a mandate to improve the health status of regional, rural and remote communities in Australia, and more specifically in Victoria. We are committed to a sustainable rural health workforce and are achieving these outcomes through the development and implementation of medical and health professions education programs in underserved regional and rural communities, and by undertaking targeted research programs that address priority health problems in rural populations.

Monash Rural Health is broadly divided into two regions where it has major regional academic sites in southeast and north-west Victoria. Monash Rural Health encompasses the:

- Graduate entry MD Year A program at MRH Churchill
- Regional academic sites dedicated to regional and rural medical education at Mildura, Bendigo, and Gippsland
• Rural Nursing and Allied Health unit, which is dedicated to education, student placement support and research across the fields of nursing and allied health
• Office of Head of School, responsible for Rural Health Education Programs, Research, Finance, Operations/Planning, and Marketing/Communications
