Position Context/Purpose

The appointee will be recognised nationally and internationally in their discipline or profession. They will demonstrate leadership in innovative curriculum development and management, course/program rankings, and be expected to foster excellence in teaching and learning and facilitate student success within the School. The appointee will also contribute to the development of high-quality research published in ABDC A* and A ranked journals, and the success of the School's PhD program. The appointee will lead the development of successful links between the School and industry partners.

Duties at this level will include:

- Design, coordinate and-deliver courses and subjects which provide a high-quality and engaging learning experience.
- Develop and manage a scholarly approach to learning and teaching and contribute to disciplinary teaching pedagogy and research.
- Provide leadership and mentoring to others in subject or course level curriculum development and delivery of teaching.
- Lead discipline-based mentoring and coaching of more junior colleagues to develop their teaching and research performance.
- Conduct and lead high impact research and produce high quality publications in ABDC A* and A ranked journals.
- Provide academic leadership to ensure the development and maintenance of a robust research culture in the discipline at La Trobe.
- Contribute to practice in a clinical/professional field nationally or internationally, as a result of teaching, research, scholarship and innovation.
- Play a lead role in research projects including development and leadership of projects.
- Supervise Higher Degree by Research (HDR), and postgraduate students.
- Obtain research funding from contracts/grants/consultancies.
- Lead and manage partnerships with potential and existing domestic and international partners.
- Provide leadership to the university/school/department/program by undertaking major management and planning responsibilities, and chairing school, university committees/working parties.
- Promote and represent the University and school by participating in relevant local, national and international organisations, and events.
- Undertake other duties commensurate with the classification and scope of the position as required by the Head of Department or Dean.

Essential Criteria

Skills and knowledge required for the position

- PhD or equivalent accreditation and standing recognised by the University/profession as appropriate for the relevant domain.
- Demonstrated excellence in teaching, subject coordination and curriculum development and management.
- Demonstrated leadership in course development and management with a proven track record in promoting and advancing excellence in teaching and student success.
- Demonstrated excellence in leading successful course rankings and course level employability programs.
- Successful track record of publishing in ABDC ranked A* and A journals.
- Demonstrated excellence in supervising PhD and postgraduate research students.
- Demonstrated ability to lead and work as a team member in a collaborative and collegial manner.
- Demonstrated ability to successfully lead and manage a team or other organisational unit.
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills, including the ability to interact effectively with people from a diverse range of backgrounds.

- Proven ability to build high quality and beneficial relationships with a range of industry partners and evidence of the ability to promote research links with outside organisations/agencies.
- Demonstrated experience and success in managing staff performance and staff development.
- The successful candidate will be expected to take up a leadership position within the School. Possible leadership roles include Course Development and Management, School Accreditation and Rankings, student employability and industry partnerships.

Capabilities required to be successful in the position

- Ability to work collaboratively, recognise the value of diversity and model accountability, connectedness, innovation and care.
- Ability to think creatively, explore new ideas and respectfully challenge existing practices in order to improve current ways of working.
- Ability to contribute to a culture of continuous improvement, implementing ideas generated by team members
