

INDUSTRY GROWTH DIVISION

The division plays a central role in developing policy and regulation to enable Australian industries to be competitive, resilient and innovative, both domestically and internationally. The division achieves this through working across the department, governments and stakeholders. The division also utilises a project based approach to address key industry matters and changing government priorities.

All new employees will be attached to a section within the division but there may be flexibility to move to new projects as the division's priority changes and opportunities arises.
