

Internationally Qualified Midwife Examinations Committee

Terms of Reference

September 2024

1 Background

The Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia (Board) has adopted a pre-registration assessment of the knowledge, clinical skills and professional attributes of internationally qualified nurses and midwives (IQNM) wanting to register in Australia. The Board established the Nursing and Midwifery Accreditation Committee (Assessment of overseas qualified nurses and midwives) (NMAC) to oversee the assessment. The NMAC also make recommendations and gives advice to the Board about issues relating to the pre-registration assessment of IQNM and associated matters.

In the first stage of the assessment, each IQNM's qualifications are assessed against the Board's three qualification criteria to assign them to one of three streams. If an IQNM's qualifications meet all three criteria, they are qualified for general registration and assigned to Stream A. Subject to applying for registration and meeting all other registration standards, they are eligible to be registered.

Generally, if an IQNM's qualifications meet two of the criteria, they are assigned to Stream B and need to complete an outcomes-based assessment (OBA) to qualify for general registration. The OBA comprises a multiple-choice question (MCQ) examination and an objective structured clinical examination (OSCE). There are separate MCQ examinations and OSCEs for internationally qualified registered nurses (IQRN), internationally qualified midwives (IQM) and internationally qualified enrolled nurses (IQEN).

The NMAC has convened the Internationally Qualified Midwife Examinations Committee to help the NMAC oversee the OBA for IQM.

2 Purpose

2.1 The Internationally Qualified Midwife Examinations Committee (IQMEC) is part of the arrangements established by NMAC to ensure the OBA for IQM reflect good assessment practice and examination governance. The IQMEC is important in managing risks related to the OBA and will facilitate:

- b) the transparency and defensibility of examination results, and
- c) the consistency across examination sessions.

3 Functions

3.1 The IQMEC is accountable to the NMAC and will:

- ii. the maintenance, policy, delivery and content of the objective structured clinical examinations (OSCEs), and
- iii. the selection of suitable examination facilities for delivery of the MCQ examinations (as relevant) and OSCEs.
