Medical Radiation Practice Accreditation Committee

Functions of the Committee

The Committee is established to exercise the following accreditation functions under the National Law assigned by the Board:

- develop accreditation standards
- assess education providers and programs of study to determine whether they meet the approved accreditation standards, and
- make recommendations and advise the Board about accreditation functions and associated issues.

What is involved?

Generally, the Committee meets three-to-four times a year either half, full-day, or day-and-a-half meetings depending on the workload (face-to-face or via Zoom). Some travel is needed to attend face-to-face committee meetings and conduct assessments.

Typically, 1-2 days of travel is required for each committee meeting. If a committee member is appointed to an assessment team, travel for accreditation assessments may be up to two days (depending on the location).

Membership

Committee members are appointed by the Board and will consist of:

- at least one educationalist (either academic or clinical educator)
- at least one academic member holding a senior academic position in an Australian tertiary institution within the discipline of medical radiation science, and
- at least one member with accreditation experience external to the medical radiation profession.

Members of the Board are not eligible for appointment to the Committee.

Selection criteria

The Board recognises the following skills as important for the success of the Committee. In making its decision on appointment, the Board will consider the range, mix of skills and diversity necessary to enable the Committee to fulfill its function.

When completing the application form, applicants must demonstrate expertise in at least one of the following criteria:

- recent experience in clinical education and assessment of students and registered medical radiation practitioners
- recent clinical education experience and expertise ultrasound or MRI
- formal qualifications in education
- expertise in the accreditation or assessment of higher education programs
- culturally safe healthcare for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

Attributes

In addition to the selection criteria above, the Board will also give regard to the following attributes at interview:

1. Displays integrity: is ethical, committed, diligent, prepared, organised, professional, principles-based and respectful; values diversity; and shows courage and independence
2. Thinks critically: is objective and impartial; uses logical and analytical processes; distils the core of complex issues and weighs up options
3. Applies expertise: actively applies relevant knowledge; skills and experience to contribute to decision-making
4. Communicates constructively: is articulate, persuasive and diplomatic; is self-aware and reflects on personal impact and effectiveness; listens and responds constructively to contributions from others

5. Focuses strategically: takes a broad perspective; can see the big picture; and considers long term impacts
6. Collaborates in the interests of the scheme: is a team player; flexible and cooperative; and creates partnerships within and between boards and Ahpra.

Roles and responsibilities of members

Members are required to act within the powers and functions set out in the National Law.

Under the National Law, members are required to act impartially and in the public interest in the exercise of their functions and put the public interest before the interests of particular health practitioners or any entity that represents health practitioners.

Confidentiality

Members are required to comply with the confidentiality requirements of the National Law. Any information that comes to a member's knowledge, in the course of, or because of the member's role is protected information and must not be disclosed or made allowed to be disclosed to another person, organisation or entity.

Conflict of interest

Members are to comply with the conflict of interest requirements set out in the National Law.

Statutory protections

Members of the National Boards and committees are provided with appropriate statutory immunities for exercising their functions in good faith.

Code of conduct for board and committee members

The Code of conduct for Board and committee members outlines the standard of behaviour expected of members in the performance of their duties and in their interactions with each other, Ahpra staff and stakeholders.

Cultural safety

The National Scheme's commitment to eliminating racism from the healthcare system and ensuring patient safety is the norm for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples is detailed in the National Scheme's Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health and Cultural Safety Strategy 2020-2025 (the Strategy) and enshrined in the guiding principles and objectives of the National Law.

It is essential that members understand and uphold the Strategy and National Law by always demonstrating culturally safe and anti-racist practise during their appointment. Members must attend cultural safety training delivered by Ahpra including an understanding of the cultural safety definition in line with the commitment in the Strategy to train all staff, Board and committee members including adhering to any associated policies and procedures.

The inclusion of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples voices and perspectives in decision-making committees is critically important in creating a culturally safe and informed regulatory body and healthcare system.

Selection process

A selection advisory panel will review all applications and prepare a recommendation for the Board's approval.

Shortlisted candidates will be interviewed to ensure that they have the necessary qualifications, skills and experience for the position.

Shortlisted candidate will also be required to complete a National criminal history check form and provide certified copies for probity checks to be completed. This will include:

- a national criminal history check
- an Australian Securities and Investments Commission disqualification register check

- a National Personal Insolvency Index check conducted through the Australian Financial Security Authority, and
- a check of the Board's records to ensure that a practitioner applicant is of good standing in the profession (registered practitioners only).

Referee reports

Referee reports are an important part of the selection process and at least two reports will be obtained for all shortlisted candidates. Applicants are asked to nominate two to three referees who can support their application relevant to the key selection criteria and requirements of the position.

Remuneration

The Ministerial Council determines the remuneration for members of a National Board per the National Law. Remuneration is usually adjusted on an annual basis according to the consumer price index. The remuneration (daily sitting fee) as of 1 July 2024 is as follows:

Role	Quarter daily fee	Half daily fee	Full day fee	Extra travel time
	Less than 2 hours	Up to 4 hours	More than 4 hours
	Fees include up to 4 hours travel time			Between 4-8 hours	Over 8 hours
Member	$184	$368	$736	$368	$736

Ahpra sets the business rules for the payment of sitting fees and expenses.

All meetings or regulatory activities will be paid at a standard sitting fee rate across three time-related bands:

- less than 2 hours requiring no significant preparation time or travel (quarter-daily sitting fee)
- up to 4 hours requiring significant preparation time (half-daily sitting fee)
- greater than 4 hours (full day sitting fee)

Travel time is calculated on a door-to-door basis for each individual member, acknowledging that home location and the availability of flights or other transport will directly affect the amount payable.

Under the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992, National Board members are eligible to receive contributions at 11.5% (12% from 1 July 2025) of total annual remuneration to a chosen superannuation fund.

Expenses

Committee members are entitled to claim travel, accommodation and subsistence expenses incurred as part of participating at face-to-face meetings when required.

Government or statutory employees

Ahpra recognises that government and statutory employees may be bound by their employer policy regarding payment for work undertaken outside of their employment.

Candidates must check with their employer to ensure they are supportive of their application and the necessary time commitment if successful in appointment. It is also important to discuss if they are entitled to claim sitting fees for being a member of this committee.
