

Senior Lecturer in Nursing (Balanced)

---

College/Division	College of Health and Medicine
School/Section	School of Nursing
Location	Launceston, Burnie, Sydney, Hobart
Classification	Level C
Reporting line	Head, School of Nursing or delegate

Position Summary

The University of Tasmania is building a vision of a place-based University with a mission to enhance the intellectual, economic, social and cultural future of Tasmania, and from Tasmania, contribute to the world in areas of distinctive advantage. The University recognises that achieving this vision is dependent on the staff we employ as well as creating a people-centred University that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.

The Senior Lecturer position is in the School of Nursing which is part of the College of Health and Medicine with expertise in university education of nurses, developing local partnerships, and research that supports the School theme of Transforming Research In Ageing. This is an exciting opportunity for an enthusiastic and motivated Registered Nurse with PhD to join a dynamic team boosting health and nursing research performance and evidence-based learning and teaching. The position will provide on campus leadership and contribute to a positive culture that enables high levels of collaboration and productivity to support the vision of the University to deliver place-based education. Our campuses are located in Hobart, Launceston, Burnie and Sydney, with position location negotiated with the successful applicant as per school needs.

The School of Nursing works in close partnership with Tasmanian health services and national healthcare partners to improve the health of Tasmanians and to educate a new generation of nurses with capability in leadership and future-focused health care. We build our future workforce through innovative learning experiences using sophisticated digital and face to face delivery across our undergraduate and postgraduate courses. We foster a dynamic, highly engaged work environment with interdisciplinary opportunities for research and teaching across the across the university and with our health service partners. The School of Nursing sits within the College of Health and Medicine which has a focus on boosting health and medical research performance and evidence-based learning and teaching to educate a new generation of agile health professionals and researchers.

We are an inclusive workplace committed to ‘working from the strength that diversity brings’ in our Statement of Values. We are dedicated to attracting, retaining and developing our people and are committed to inclusive principles. We celebrate the range of diverse assets that gender identity, ethnicity, sexual orientation, disability, age and life course bring. Applications are encouraged from all sectors of the community. Tell us how we can make this job work for you.

What You'll Do

- Make a strong and sustained contribution to the University in achieving its strategic objectives and fulfilling its operational responsibilities.
- Grow research in areas relevant to the School of Nursing, including grant applications, HDR supervision and A1 publications.

- Make a significant contribution towards the teaching of undergraduate and postgraduate contemporary nursing curricula, including staff development, unit coordination, on campus teaching, evaluation and utilising emerging and online technology.
- Contribute to the development and maintenance of productive and effective collaborations inside the University and locally and nationally with the discipline, relevant interdisciplinary domains, profession, industry and/or wider community.
- Provide on campus people and safety leadership to develop and support a high-performance culture where students, academic and professional staff thrive.
- Behave in a manner which aligns with the University of Tasmania Behaviour Policy and Statement of Values.
- Undertake other duties as assigned by the supervisor.

What We're Looking For (success criteria)

- Registration as a Nurse with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia (NMBA) and a PhD in a relevant field.
- Demonstrated research capacity including grant applications, A1 publications and HDR supervision in areas of relevance to the School.
- Experience and demonstrated achievement in university-level teaching and learning in nursing courses, in areas of need for the School.
- Achievement in quality nursing higher education learning and teaching with digital capability and the capacity to engage with innovative online technology and the demonstrated capacity to lead and manage continuous quality improvement in health professional education.
- Excellent communication skills, with the demonstrated capacity to effectively communicate and work with staff, students and partners within the University and with external organisations including health service providers.

Other position requirements

- Current Working with Vulnerable People registration (or to be obtained)
- Current 'C' class driver's licence or manual vehicle licence

University of Tasmania

The University of Tasmania is an institution with an enduring commitment to our state and community, and a strong global outlook. We are committed to enhancing the intellectual, economic, social and cultural future of Tasmania. Our Strategic Direction strongly reflects the University community's voice that our University must be place based but globally connected as well as regionally networked and designed to deliver quality access to higher education for the whole State.

We believe that from our unique position here in Tasmania we can impact the world through the contributions of our staff, students and graduates. We recognise that achieving this vision is dependent on the people we employ, as well as creating a university that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.

Check out more here:

<https://www.utas.edu.au/jobs>

<https://www.utas.edu.au/careers/our-people-values-and-behaviours>

