

Lecturer in Nursing

College/Division	College of Health and Medicine
School	School of Nursing
Location	Rozelle (NSW), Burnie, Launceston (Tas)
Classification	Level B
Reporting line	Head of School of Nursing or delegate

Position Summary

The University of Tasmania is building a vision of a place-based University with a mission to enhance the intellectual, economic, social and cultural future of Tasmania, and from Tasmania, contribute to the world in areas of distinctive advantage. The University recognises that achieving this vision is dependent on the staff we employ as well as creating a people-centred University that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.

This is an exciting opportunity for an enthusiastic and motivated Registered Nurse to join a dynamic team in the School of Nursing which is part of the College of Health and Medicine. The School of Nursing works in close partnership with Tasmanian and national healthcare partners to improve the health of Tasmanians and to educate a new generation of nurses with capability in leadership and future-focused health care. We build our future workforce through innovative learning experiences using sophisticated digital and face to face delivery across our undergraduate and postgraduate courses. We foster a dynamic, highly engaged work environment with interdisciplinary opportunities for research and teaching across the university and with our health service partners. The School of Nursing sits within the College of Health and Medicine which has a focus on boosting health and medical research performance and evidence-based learning and teaching to educate a new generation of agile health professionals and researchers.

With a strong background in nursing education this teaching intensive position will contribute to student success through the educational preparation of pre-registration and post graduate students of nursing. This position also involves health services research and/or innovation in learning and teaching that can improve the health of Tasmanians. You will assist in developing a positive culture that enables high levels of collaboration and productivity to support the vision of the University to deliver place-based education and research with high impacts for Tasmania.

Full time is preferred; however, a fractional role will be considered for clinicians or clinical educator.

We are an inclusive workplace committed to ‘working from the strength that diversity brings’ reflected in our Statement of Values. We are dedicated to attracting, retaining and developing our people and are committed to inclusive principles. We celebrate the range of diverse assets that gender identity, ethnicity, sexual orientation, disability, age and life course bring. Applications are encouraged from all sectors of the community. Tell us how we can make this job work for you.

What You will Do

- Make a strong and sustained contribution to the University in achieving its strategic objectives and fulfilling its operational responsibilities.
- Undertake scholarly undergraduate and postgraduate coursework teaching of an exemplary quality.
- Make a significant contribution in the teaching of undergraduate and postgraduate contemporary nursing curricula, including unit coordination, curriculum development, evaluation and utilising emerging and online technology.
- Undertake collaborative research and/or scholarly contributions as relevant for qualifications and the University’s performance expectations for Level B.

- Contribute to the development and maintenance of transformative partnerships inside the University and locally and nationally with the discipline, relevant interdisciplinary domains, profession, industry and/or wider community.
- Behave in a manner that aligns with the University of Tasmania Behaviour Policy and Statement of Values and promote a vibrant, positive campus culture with a focus on safety
- Undertake other duties as assigned by the supervisor.

What We are Looking For (success criteria)

- Registration as a Nurse with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia (NMBA).
- Post graduate nursing qualifications at PhD, or Masters level, desirable.
- Experience and demonstrated achievement in university-level teaching and learning including managing and coordinating units, developing nursing curricula and delivering dynamic learning experiences in undergraduate and postgraduate programs across all modes using contemporary teaching practices.
- Engagement with innovative approaches to learning and teaching, and capacity to lead quality improvement activities.
- Evidence of research capability demonstrated by qualifications, publications, direct experience in research projects, or health service/program evaluation.
- Demonstrated and significant experience in nursing practice (with recency) including experience in a specialty area of nursing practice.
- Excellent interpersonal skills and a record of contributing effectively to building and maintaining transformative partnerships with the discipline, profession, industry (where relevant) and wider community.

Other position requirements

- Current Working with Vulnerable People registration (or to be obtained)
- Regular travel may be between campus may be required to deliver teaching and learning outcomes
- Willingness to undertake a medical assessment based on meeting the inherent position requirements

University of Tasmania

The University of Tasmania is an institution with an enduring commitment to our state and community, and a strong global outlook. We are committed to enhancing the intellectual, economic, social and cultural future of Tasmania. Our Strategic Direction strongly reflects the University community's voice that our University must be place based but globally connected as well as regionally networked and designed to deliver quality access to higher education for the whole State.

We believe that from our unique position here in Tasmania we can impact the world through the contributions of our staff, students and graduates. We recognise that achieving this vision is dependent on the people we employ, as well as creating a university that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.

Check out more here: <https://www.utas.edu.au/jobs>

<https://www.utas.edu.au/careers/our-people-values-and-behaviours>