About Charles Sturt University

Purpose
The Wiradjuri phrase yindyamarra winhanganha means the wisdom of respectfully knowing how to live well in a world worth living in. This phrase represents who we are at Charles Sturt University – our ethos. It comes from traditional Indigenous Australian knowledge, but it also speaks to the vision of the university – to develop and spread wisdom to make the world a better place.

Vision
Charles Sturt University is set to undergo a decade of great reform that will see the university characterised by these key elements:

- An uncompromising drive towards excellence in every aspect of its operations
- A far-reaching strategic re-positioning of teaching, learning, research, and innovation
- A cementing of our position as Australia’s pre-eminent rural and regional university

The overarching aim is to consolidate our institution so that it is demonstrably more resilient and sustainable by the end of the decade.

Goals
To deliver on our purpose and vision, the university has three key goals:

1. Maintain the university's position in the top five Australian universities for graduate outcomes based on employment and salary
2. Embed a culture of excellence across all aspects of the university's operations
3. Exponential growth in research, development, and innovation income in our chosen areas, delivering high impact outcomes for regional Australia

Our values
Charles Sturt has a proud history and is fortunate to have an outstanding group of diverse, passionate, and engaged people working with us. Our values of insightful, inclusive, impactful, and inspiring guide our behaviours and ways of working to help us achieve our ethos of creating a world worth living in.

Performance measures
In addition to the principal responsibilities all staff are required to contribute to the success of the university strategy including meeting university’s eight key performance indicators:

| Our Students | • Commencing progress rate
              | • Student experience |
|--------------|---------------------------|
| Our Research | • Research income
               | • Research quality and impact |
| Our People   | • Engagement
               | • All injury frequency rate |
| Our Social Responsibility | • Underlying operating result
                               | • Community and partner sentiment |
Faculty of Science and Health

The Faculty of Science and Health (FOSH) has more than 9000 students and over 500 staff dedicated to advancing scientific knowledge. It delivers flexible and innovative teaching programs designed to produce job ready graduates for a diverse range of professions. Position overview

The Associate Professor in Oral Health will be a clinical academic with extensive undergraduate teaching experience and program coordination in Oral Health and/or Dentistry. Principal teaching duties include the integration of pre-clinical and clinical teaching in the Bachelor of Oral Health (Therapy and Hygiene) program and the supervision of relevant clinics.

The incumbent will provide academic leadership of the Oral Health discipline, as the Head of Discipline, contribute significantly to the teaching, administration and academic workload management in the discipline, and work closely with the Associate Heads of School in the SDMS in their portfolios, such as learning and teaching and research.

The incumbent will work with the Dean of Dentistry and Oral Health and the Course Director in curriculum development and the accreditation reporting of the Bachelor of Oral Health (Therapy and Hygiene) program, while progressing an active research profile with a strategic research and innovation focus aligned to the overall University Strategy 2030. The incumbent will have a record of published research in a field relevant to Oral Health and be able to lead relevant research development within the CRDOH.

The CRDOH places great importance on its relationships with the dental and health care professions, the relevant professional and accreditation bodies, and with rural and regional communities. The incumbent will be based on the Wagga Wagga campus and be expected to fully engage, maintain and further develop these relationships.

Principal responsibilities

• Make an outstanding contribution to the development, implementation and promotion of Charles Sturt University learning and teaching methodologies, processes, technologies and tools to deliver and lead high quality student centred learning opportunities in the relevant discipline and as required to meet the teaching needs of the University.

• Achieve excellence in teaching in a range of delivery modes, which may include clinical supervision of students and face to face and online teaching and assessment, and evidencing engagement with the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning and the Scholarly Activity Framework.

• Build strong professional relationships with students and provide timely and appropriate consultation and feedback.
• Provide leadership in collaborative processes to design, deliver and continually improve high quality courses and learning experiences for students including the giving and receiving of constructive feedback.

• Lead and manage the convening, coordination and delivery of subjects and/or courses, as required.

• Establish and maintain strategic relationships and networks with a range of stakeholders including community, government and industry/professional bodies.

• Expand current knowledge and understanding of the relevant discipline through original and substantial contributions to industry engagement and/or scholarly activities or similar.

• Provide leadership and foster partnerships with the professions that bring direct benefit to the strategic work of the university, in terms of teaching, workplace learning, course profile and/or areas of research strength.

• Develop and execute a research plan with a strategic research and innovation focus aligned to the University Strategy 2030.

• Conduct ethical, high quality research/creative works or professional activity relevant to the discipline at a national and international level through scholarship, publication and presentation.

• Build a record of research which contributes to the development of the discipline whilst maintaining up-to-date research records within Charles Sturt’s Research Output (CRO) repository.

• Make an outstanding contribution to the development and improvement of policy and practice through involvement in professional/industry associations, accreditation authorities, conference organisations, advisory bodies, and national or international delegations, consistent with the University’s Outside Professional Activities Policy.

• Other duties appropriate to the classification as required.
