School of Information Studies

The Faculty of Arts and Education is a newly created Faculty at Charles Sturt University. It builds on the strengths of the previous Faculties of Education and Arts and has significant opportunities to realise new learning and community engagement synergies. The Faculty is comprised of seven Schools and one Centre. It includes the School of Information Studies, School of Indigenous Australian Studies, School of Education, School of Teacher Education, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, School of Communication and Creative Industries, School of Theology and the Centre for Islamic Studies and Civilisation. With over 9000 online and 3000 internal students, the Faculty is an innovator in online and blended learning modes, across its on-campus and online courses.

As part of CSU's Faculty of Arts and Education, the School of Information Studies is Australia's largest provider of online education for the information professions with around 2,000 students and 18 academic staff. The School offers highly regarded, industry focused postgraduate and undergraduate courses including a Bachelor and Master of Information Studies, and Master of Education courses, including Teacher Librarianship and Knowledge Networks & Digital Innovation, as well as a successful PhD program.
