Position Summary

The University of Tasmania is building a vision of a place-based University with a mission to enhance the intellectual, economic, social and culture future of Tasmania, and from Tasmania, contribute to the world in areas of distinctive advantage. The University recognises that achieving this vision is dependent on the people we employ as well as creating a people-centred University that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.

We are seeking to appoint a Lecturer in Creative Curriculum/Theatre in the School of Creative Arts and Media (CAM) which is part of the College of Arts, Law and Education.

In conjunction with the Director Creative Curriculum, this role will principally focus on driving delivery of the cross disciplinary Creative Curriculum suite of Units that are compulsory in all new CAM Bachelor courses (Bachelor of Fine Art, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Media and Communications, and Bachelor of Arts - Theatre and Performance Major). Creative Curriculum is a space for students to build their disciplinary expertise through collaboration and work-integrated learning and provides a place-based, collaborative and responsive environment that differentiates UTAS' creative offerings. Based in Hobart, this role will also work closely with the Head of Theatre and Performance as it expands its offerings in in the South.

We are an inclusive workplace committed to 'working from the strength that diversity brings' reflected in our Statement of Values. We are dedicated to attracting, retaining and developing our people and are committed to inclusive principles. We celebrate the range of diverse assets that gender identity, ethnicity, sexual orientation, disability, age and life course bring. Applications are encouraged from all sectors of the community. Tell us how we can make this job work for you.

What You'll Do

- Make a strong contribution to the University in achieving its strategic objectives and fulfilling its operational responsibilities.
- Undertake high-quality research of national and increasingly of international standing, secure external competitive and other funding, publish research findings and contribute to the successful supervision of research higher degree students, in order to meet and regularly exceed the University's research performance expectations for Level B.
- Undertake scholarly coursework teaching of a high quality.
- Contribute to the development and maintenance of productive and effective links inside the University and locally and nationally with the discipline, relevant interdisciplinary domains, profession, industry and/or wider community
- Undertake other duties as assigned by the supervisor.

What We're Looking For (success criteria)

- A PhD or equivalent in a relevant field.
- Capacity to show evidence of individual initiative in conducting and planning research demonstrated by a record of quality publications, presentations at conferences and preferably success in securing external competitive and other funding.
- Experience in University-level teaching and learning in interdisciplinary performance with expertise in blended learning delivery.
- A successful record of contributing to building and maintaining effective and productive links locally and nationally with the discipline, profession, industry (where relevant) and wider community.

Other position requirements

- Experience in performance based interdisciplinary creative arts teaching and research specifically in theatre and performance.
- Travel will be required between campuses in Hobart and Launceston.

University of Tasmania

The University of Tasmania is an institution with an enduring commitment to our state and community, and a strong global outlook. We are committed to enhancing the intellectual, economic, social and cultural future of Tasmania. Our Strategic Direction strongly reflects the University community's voice that our University must be place based but globally connected as well as regionally networked and designed to deliver quality access to higher education for the whole State.

We believe that from our unique position here in Tasmania we can impact the world through the contributions of our staff, students and graduates. We recognise that achieving this vision is dependent on the people we employ, as well as creating a university that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.
