About Uniting

Uniting Vic.Tas is the community services organisation of the Uniting Church. We've been supporting people and families for over 100 years. We work alongside people of all ages in local communities in Victoria and Tasmania. Our services reach to Albury-Wodonga in the north, Mallacoota in East Gippsland, the Wimmera region in the west, and across Tasmania.

We empower children, young people and families to learn and thrive. We're there for people experiencing homelessness, drug and alcohol addiction or mental illness. We support people with disability to live the life they choose. We assist older people to maintain their independence and enjoy life. We provide opportunities to access training and meaningful employment. We're proud to welcome and support asylum seekers to our community. We work to empower people with the information, skills and tools they need to live a healthy, happy life.

As an organisation, we work in solidarity with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people as Australia's First Peoples and as the traditional owners and custodians of this land.

We celebrate diversity and value the lived experience of people of every ethnicity, faith, age, disability, culture, language, gender identity, sex and sexual orientation. We welcome lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, gender diverse and non-binary, intersex, and queer (LGBTIQ+) people at our services. We pledge to provide inclusive and non-discriminatory services.

Our purpose: To inspire people, enliven communities and confront injustice

Our values: We are imaginative, respectful, compassionate and bold

1. About the program

Cooke Court Uniting was selected by the Department of Education (VIC) as the site for an intensive early childhood education and care research project, as part of their Safe Haven budget initiative. The research project is being undertaken in partnership with Parkville Institute, a not-for-profit organisation established to operationalise and evaluate the program. The Australian government and philanthropy are also funding the project. The results from previous trials have found that children who participated in an intensive early education and care program had significant improvement in their cognitive (IQ and language) and non-cognitive skills (resilience and social-emotional). The University of Melbourne research team undertook a rigorous evaluation and some members have established Parkville Institute to continue the work (Research report 4 can be found here).

The objective of the intensive early childhood education and care program is that children living with significant adversity will experience a stable and enriching early learning and care program and enter school as confident and successful learners who are developmentally equal to their peers.

The long-term objective of the program is that these children will enjoy the same life trajectories as their peers. This research will seek to determine whether children, recruited with the same eligibility criteria as those in previous trials, can achieve the same remarkable learning and development outcomes. This will be one of four research sites established in Australia.

Position Description

Early Childhood Teacher, Safe Haven Initiative

2. Position purpose

As an early childhood teacher of this research centre, you will have responsibility for leading the planning, documenting and implementation of an education and care program in your allocated room. The model is nested within the usual childcare legislative requirements and with a commitment to the mission and values of Uniting and the Parkville Institute.

Working as part of a large team of professionals, this role will contribute to an environment that is safe, inclusive and responsive to the needs of everyone participating. You will be responsible for leading and participating in regular and ongoing reflective practice and continuous improvement in the service as well as ensuring your practice and that of your colleagues, meets and exceeds the requirements of the National Law Act & Regulations, the National Quality Framework, Child Safe Standards as well as our organisational policies and procedures.
