ABOUT DEAKIN

Deakin's growing reputation is reflected in its rapid rise in international rankings; Deakin entered the prestigious Academic Ranking of World Universities for the first time in 2014 and now ranks an estimated 213 (AWRU 2017). Deakin is ranked 29 in the QS ranking of the world's top universities under 50 years. Ninety percent of Deakin's research was rated at or above world standards in the Australian Government's Excellence in Research for Australia (ERA).

Established in 1974, Deakin University was named after the leader of the Australian Federation movement and the nation's second Prime Minister, Alfred Deakin.

Deakin University has five campuses, one in Melbourne's eastern suburbs, two in the port city of Geelong and one in Warrnambool on the south-west coast of Victoria. Deakin's fastest growing campus is in the Cloud where over 14,000 students study predominantly online. All students, regardless of their campus or mode of study, benefit from Deakin's award-winning digital environment.

Deakin is proud of its inclusive and student-focussed culture and its reputation for using innovative digital solutions to provide an engaging and personalised learning experience. Deakin is committed to lifelong learning, providing students with choices about how, when and where learning occurs.

Deakin's four faculties offer courses across the arts, design, science, sport, nutrition, architecture, business, law, medicine, optometry, engineering, nursing, allied health, psychology and teaching.

With 58 000 students Deakin is one of Australia's largest universities and is ranked in the top 2 per cent of the world's universities in the major international rankings (ranked 29 in the QS ranking of the world's universities under 50 year).

As a Victorian university with a global impact, Deakin is translating its research into the commercial outcomes that will drive the innovation Australia's economy needs now and into the future. Research at Deakin focusses on innovation and robust partnerships with industry and business and it is building a formidable international reputation in areas of emerging national social, economic and political priority in its core areas of health, carbon fibre, energy and cyber security. Deakin has integrated its research growth plan into its overall strategy of service, developing its base in advanced manufacturing, which is vital for the Geelong community and Information technology, which is strong in the surrounds of its Melbourne campus.

OUR STRATEGY

Deakin's vision and mission is articulated in its strategic plan LIVE the future: 2017-2020. Through LIVE the future, Deakin aspires to be Australia's premier university in driving the digital frontier, enabling globally connected education for the jobs of the future, and research that makes a difference to the communities Deakin serves.

Informed by its Australian and Victorian context and engaged locally in the communities it serves, Deakin advances:

Learning – offering students a brilliant education where they are and where they want to go

Ideas – making a difference through world-class innovation and research

Value – strengthening our communities, enabling our partners and enhancing our enterprise

Experience – delighting our students, our alumni, our staff and our friends.

These four interconnecting elements form the acronym LIVE, and together they articulate the Deakin promise to its students, staff, alumni, partners and friends.

FACULTY OF ARTS AND EDUCATION

The Faculty of Arts and Education offers an exciting range of programs in teaching and research in Communication, Creative Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Education and Indigenous Knowledge and Culture.

These are the human disciplines, which are vital to improving personal and professional outcomes and contributing to Australia as an equitable, humane and innovative society. The Faculty is arranged around key academic entities: School of Communication and Creative Arts, School of Education, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, and the Institute of Koorie Education.

We have earned high international regard for innovation in creative arts, human sciences, including humanitarian leadership, criminology, contemporary history, teacher education and Indigenous knowledge. The Faculty's practices are founded on Deakin's longstanding commitment to equity and the achievement of personal, professional and community benefit through the power of education.

This Faculty celebrates staff excellence and success in teaching, research and a strong commitment to high quality outcomes that serve our communities. In the context of a rapidly changing and innovative digital world, we are working to achieve significant advancement for a sustainable future through:

- exciting courses that response to demand, innovation and professional readiness
- international strategic partnerships in teaching and research for high quality outcomes
- commitment to Indigenous knowledge, teaching and research in partnership with the Institute of Koorie Education
- collaborating seamlessly strong collaboration between Schools and Research Centres with communities, professions and partners
- achieving increased success for students, colleagues and the communities we serve.

SCHOOL OF HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

Welcome to the School of Humanities and Social Sciences. The study of humanities and social sciences is at the cornerstone of all great universities around the world. This is certainly the case at Deakin University.

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences was established in 2012 within the Faculty of Arts and Education and is now one of the largest Schools in the University. It is home to more than a dozen different disciplines, all of which are available to students undertaking a Bachelor of Arts degree. These include philosophy, sociology, anthropology and history. The School also delivers a number of specialist undergraduate and postgraduate degrees, including international studies, criminology, cultural heritage and museum studies, language and culture studies, humanitarian leadership, politics and policy, international relations and international and community development.

There are over 100 academic staff in the School, all experts in their field. Academics regularly undertake fieldwork both within Australia and overseas, focusing largely on understanding Australia and its place in the world. This research is relevant, policy-oriented and socially-focused.

Opportunities also exist for our students to complete domestic and international internships, with students spending part of their degree working in all corners of the globe. The School also has a very strong Honours program across a number of disciplines, and a large cohort of higher degree by research students.

It is a very exciting time to be teaching and researching the disciplines within our School. Australia is playing an important role in the Asian Century and knowledge of our place in this new global environment provides our students with opportunities to live satisfying lives as well informed, engaged and practical-minded citizens.

Through your teaching and research, our students will benefit from discipline-based knowledge in order to understand how societies function in local and global settings; what forces and great events have shaped the modern world; and what are the main factors shaping people's lives in national and international contexts today. Through your work, our students will also acquire and develop the skills required to navigate the workforce both today and in the future. Students who study the humanities and social sciences will develop and acquire critical thinking skills, the competence to engage cross-culturally, and the proficiency to analyse complex issues that require multi-disciplinary responses.

A graduate of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at Deakin is a worldly graduate, ready to take their place as a global citizen. We look forward to you joining us as we work alongside students within the School.

LANGUAGE AND CULTURE STUDIES

Indonesian is one of four languages offered in the School of Humanities and Social Sciences – along with Arabic, Chinese and Spanish. The language student cohort comes from a diverse range of backgrounds and courses. Students may opt to enrol in a Diploma of Indonesian, alongside a Bachelor degree. Students who study a language have the opportunity to undertake in-country language study in addition to international internships which are offered to broader student cohorts within the Faculty of Arts and Education. Indonesian language is taught at the Burwood and Waurn Ponds campuses, as well as in Cloud mode (off campus). Online course delivery is an integral part of all Indonesian units.
