THE UNIVERSITY OF CANBERRA

The University of Canberra is a young University anchored in the national capital and works with government, business, and industry to serve our communities and nation. The University of Canberra challenges the status quo; always pursuing better ways to teach, learn, research, and add value – locally and internationally.

Our purpose is to provide education which offers high quality transformative experiences; to engage in research which makes a difference to the world around us; and to contribute to the building of just, prosperous, healthy, and sustainable communities.

The University of Canberra has recently established its long-term ambitions through its new decadal strategy: Connected. Through its three objectives (Connected to Canberra, Connected for life and Connected UC), the University of Canberra aims to build sustainable communities through deep collaborations that are locally focused and globally relevant, partner for life with our students to shape our economic, social and cultural futures and deliver an outstanding, digitally connected experience that removes barriers to accessing higher education.

OUR PURPOSE AND VALUES

Our purpose and values are the heart of this university. They describe our core identity: who we are and how we behave at the University of Canberra. They were developed by our people for our people.

GALAMBANY

Together we work to empower, connect and share knowledge with our people, cultures and places

BUSINESS UNIT OVERVIEW

The Faculty of Health comprises three Schools, covering a number of disciplines including Nursing, Midwifery, Sport and Exercise Science, Physiotherapy, Nutrition and Dietetics, Pharmacy, Public Health, Psychology, Counselling, Medical Radiation Science, Diagnostic Pathology, Occupational Therapy, Optometry, Social Work, and Speech Pathology. It is the home for the Health Research Institute (HRI), Research Institute for Sport and Exercise (RISE) and the Nursing and Midwifery Research Centre – SYNERGY, a partnership between University of Canberra and ACT Health. In addition, Health also plays a leading role in relation to the development of the University's Health Precinct.

The Faculty has a strong and collegiate focus on collaboration among the disciplines, including several cross-disciplinary courses. Students gain supervised professional experience as part of their academic program and on completion of their degrees our graduates are ready for immediate entry to their profession. We are proud of our work-ready and future ready graduates.

Staff are committed to making significant contributions to the advancement of knowledge in their professions, and to contributing to basic, applied and clinical fields of research. The research of the Faculty of Health has grown rapidly in recent years, with fourfold increase in papers, higher degree graduates and research funding since 2008. With ERA rankings of 4 in public health and health services research, nursing and midwifery, and in human movement, Clinical Sciences and Psychology are the next areas of expertise we have marked for development.

HEALTH SCIENCES

The School of Health Sciences is focused on the discipline areas of Medical Radiation Science, Diagnostic Pathology, Pharmacy, Optometry, Social Work, Psychology and Counselling. These disciplines offer opportunities to develop a distinctive research and learning environment. The School has a culture of innovation and excellence in teaching, as well as a world standard research performance and culture. We are committed to equipping students with the skills and knowledge they will need to be successful in their professions, and as such, we are seeking expressions of interest from professionals with clinical currency and a desire to work in academia.

POSITION PURPOSE

As a Lecturer at University of Canberra you will be expected to make high-quality contributions to the teaching and research activities within your discipline, with the flexibility and willingness to take new challenges when opportunities arise.

You will be expected to develop, or continue to develop, an active scholarship of learning and teaching or research program, including seeking funding, conducting research, and publishing. You will be committed to student learning, through the coordination and delivery of units, and supervision of honours, masters, and PhD-level research projects. As an innovative teacher and active researcher, you will develop links with relevant domestic and international stakeholders and industry in your Discipline.

You will be expected to contribute to the scholarly and collegial community within your chosen Discipline, School, the Faculty, and beyond. You will report to the Head of Discipline and maintain excellent working relationships with colleagues at the Faculty and University levels.
