COLLEGE	College of Sciences and Engineering
SCHOOL/SECTION	Institute for Marine and Antarctic Studies – Oceans & Cryosphere
CAMPUS	Hobart
CLASSIFICATION	Level B
DATE	April 2019

POSITION SUMMARY

The University of Tasmania is building a vision of a place-based University with a mission to enhance the intellectual, economic, social and culture future of Tasmania, and from Tasmania, contribute to the world in areas of distinctive advantage. The University recognises that achieving this vision is dependent on the people we employ as well as creating a people-centred University that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.

IMAS is an internationally-recognised centre of excellence for marine and Antarctic research and education. Our vision is to develop environmental understanding and facilitate sustainable development for the benefit of industry, governments and communities in Tasmania, Australia and the world. IMAS has three core areas of research focus, in fisheries and aquaculture, ecology and biodiversity, and oceans and cryosphere; and collaborates across the major themes of climate change, ocean-Earth systems, and oceans and Antarctic governance.

The position Lecturer/Senior Lecturer Antarctic Law and Governance is a Research and Teaching appointment, with responsibilities for research, postgraduate recruitment and supervision and undergraduate teaching. The appointee will contribute meeting IMAS objectives in research, teaching and community engagement. While based in Hobart the successful applicant will be required to engage in cross campus teaching.

We are an inclusive workplace committed to 'working from the strength that diversity brings' reflected in our Statement of Values. We are dedicated to attracting, retaining and developing our people and are committed to inclusive principles and celebrate the range of diversity assets which gender identity, ethnicity, sexual orientation, disability, age and life course bring. Applications are encouraged from all sectors of the community.
