Our excellence and service in research, teaching, and external engagement has been at the forefront of legal education for decades in Australia. We pride ourselves on giving our students a practical legal experience during their degree and global study opportunities as part of their legal education.

We offer a broad teaching base, with course offerings at every level. Our dedicated Monash University Law Chambers situated in the Melbourne legal district complements our Clayton campus and legal clinics we operate in Oakleigh and Springvale for our local communities. We have a strong international presence through our centres in Prato (Italy) and Malaysia, where we offer dedicated law units to our students and students from collaborating international universities.

Our vibrant research culture is supported by three dedicated research centres: the Castan Centre for Human Rights Law, the Australian Centre for Justice Innovation, and the Centre for Commercial Law and Regulatory Studies. Our other existing groups cover public law, legal theory, criminal law, health law, and clinical legal education.

We produce scholarly, professional, and impactful research that is doctrinal, theoretical, cross-disciplinary, policy-orientated, global and comparative in its outlook. We also have ambitious plans to develop other centre-ready areas of research and teaching excellence in the near future.
