Position Summary

The University of Tasmania is building a vision of a place-based University with a mission to enhance the intellectual, economic, social and culture future of Tasmania, and from Tasmania, contribute to the world in areas of distinctive advantage. The University recognises that achieving this vision is dependent on the people we employ as well as creating a people-centred University that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.

This position is located in the School of Law within the College of Arts, Law, and Education

A teaching focused position coordinates, teaches into, and undertakes associated administration for one or more units in the areas of Corporations Law, and/or Private Law - Obligations and Remedies, and/or Property Law.

Duties include scholarly course design and development, and the delivery of teaching and assessment in legal skills in consultation with other staff within the Faculty/School. An interest in ongoing course evaluation and improvement is advantage. Involvement in outside professional bodies and community work is encouraged. Occasional travel may be required.

We are an inclusive workplace committed to ‘working from the strength that diversity brings’ reflected in our Statement of Values. We are dedicated to attracting, retaining and developing our people and are committed to inclusive principles. We celebrate the range of diverse assets that gender identity, ethnicity, sexual orientation, disability, age and life course bring. Applications are encouraged from all sectors of the community. Tell us how we can make this job work for you.

What You'll Do

- Make an effective and sustained contribution to the University in achieving its strategic objectives and fulfilling its operational responsibilities.
- Meet and regularly exceed the University's performance expectations for appointment at academic Level B, including but not limited to: development of quality teaching content and materials across delivery modes, and co-ordination of the delivery and assessment of allocated teaching units.
- Undertake scholarly undergraduate (and if relevant postgraduate) coursework teaching of a high quality.
- Contribute to the development and maintenance of productive and effective links inside the University and locally and nationally within the discipline, relevant interdisciplinary domains, profession, industry and/or wider community.
- Undertake other duties as reasonably assigned by the supervisor.

What We're Looking For (success criteria)

- A PhD or equivalent in a relevant field.
- Experience in University-level teaching and learning.
- A record of contributing to building and maintaining effective and productive links locally and nationally with the discipline, profession, industry (where relevant), and wider community.

Other position requirements

- Industry/professional experience relevant to the position.
- Current 'C' class driver's licence or manual vehicle licence
- Regular travel between campuses may be required to deliver teaching and learning outcomes

University of Tasmania

The University of Tasmania is an institution with an enduring commitment to our state and community, and a strong global outlook. We are committed to enhancing the intellectual, economic, social and cultural future of Tasmania. Our Strategic Direction strongly reflects the University community's voice that our University must be place based but globally connected as well as regionally networked and designed to deliver quality access to higher education for the whole State.

We believe that from our unique position here in Tasmania we can impact the world through the contributions of our staff, students and graduates. We recognise that achieving this vision is dependent on the people we employ, as well as creating a university that is values-based, relational, diverse, and development-focused.
