Within the rich milieu of art, design and architectural influences that contribute to Melbourne's internationally acknowledged cultural dynamism, Monash Art Design & Architecture (MADA) is a dynamic force for contemporary thought and creative engagement in the visual arts. We support a community of outstanding creative practitioners – artists, designers, architects and cultural producers – who are committed to cultural enrichment and the pursuit of transformational research through practice.

MADA's energy comes from its vibrant community of academic faculty members, postgraduate researchers, students and professional staff, who together focus on critically informed creative activity at the highest level. The faculty comprises 122 staff (80 academic faculty members and casual lecturers, 42 professional staff) and more than 1,500 students, across the departments of fine art, design and architecture and the Faculty administration services of research, graduate research, finance, academic and student services, resources student recruitment and marketing. www.monash.edu/mada.

The Department of Architecture at MADA is an internationally networked, creative community of practitioners, educators and researchers engaged with the shifting landscapes of the discipline, and the changing role of the architect as designer, persuasive collaborator and visionary mediator. In its first nine years, the department has achieved an enviable reputation for the high quality of its professional degree program and a clear path of design-based research. As a young program, Architecture at MADA has been progressively reformulating architectural education to address the challenges of a rapidly changing world and seeks innovative practitioners and academics from around the world to collaborate in creating platforms for thoughtfully shaping the world of tomorrow. Our interest in innovation is not a pursuit of uniqueness, novelty or avant-garde status, but sees innovation as a foundation for advocating for alternatives and for cultivating imagination to provide visions, strategies, techniques and approaches to address our evolving built environments.
