ORGANISATIONAL CONTEXT

At Monash, work feels different. There's a sense of belonging, from contributing to something groundbreaking – a place where great things happen. You know you're part of something special and purposeful because, like Monash, your ambitions drive you to make change.

We have a clear purpose to deliver ground-breaking intensive research; a world-class education; a global ecosystem of enterprise – and we activate these to address some of the challenges of the age, Climate Change, Thriving Communities and Geopolitical Security.

We welcome and value difference and diversity. When you come to work, you can be yourself, be a change-maker and develop your career in exciting ways with curious, energetic, inspiring and committed people and teams driven to make an impact – just like you.

Together with our commitment to academic freedom, you will have access to quality research facilities, infrastructure, world class teaching spaces, and international collaboration opportunities.

We champion an inclusive workplace culture for our staff regardless of ethnicity or cultural background. We have also worked to improve gender equality for more than 30 years. Join the pursuit of our purpose to build a better future for ourselves and our communities – #Changelt with us.

Monash Art, Design and Architecture (MADA) is a bold community of thinkers, makers and innovators. We combine creativity with critical thinking to better understand our contemporary landscape and find tangible solutions to the global challenges of our age. Our staff, students and alumni make tomorrow possible – breaking new ground and proposing models for communities that are culturally enriched and environmentally sustainable. To learn more about MADA, please visit our website: monash.edu/mada.

MADA has a clear ambition to lead research in design — forged through meaningful design practices, and supported by interdisciplinary collaboration, sound methodologies and theoretical underpinning. Design at MADA seeks to operate at the intersection where creative, critical thinking meets material making. Framed by the capacity of design to amplify the impact of research, our practice-based research is grounded in collaborations with other design colleagues, other faculties, other universities, and partner organisations. Our research themes cluster into four intersected design research labs; Design Health Collab, Mobility Design, XYX Lab—Gender and Place; and Emerging Technologies Research Lab. (<https://www.monash.edu/mada/research/labs>).

In education, MADA has a responsibility to teach students in areas that will prepare them for sustainable creative careers. Our flagship undergraduate program in Design has been revitalised with the introduction of an integrated Bachelor degree. It allows students to specialise in communication, collaborative, industrial or spatial design, with an opportunity to select from a range of studio and elective offerings to build unique design expertise in preparation for a changing world. The Department offers a number of double degrees with Business, Arts and IT; operates a large coursework Masters program in Design; hosts an expanding postgraduate community; and encourages student mobility through a range of international learning experiences.

Monash and the Faculty of Art, Design and Architecture values staff diversity and champions inclusive practices. We are committed to equitable decision making and apply the principles of achievement relative to opportunity in our selection processes.

POSITION PURPOSE

A Level C academic is expected to make significant contributions to the teaching effort of a department, school, faculty or other organisational unit or an interdisciplinary area. An academic at this level is also expected to play a major role in scholarship, research and/or professional activities.

The Senior Lecturer will specialise in the field of Spatial Design and undertake Program Coordinator duties for the associated teaching activities. The role will also play a critical role in research projects undertaken within the Department of Design.

The Senior Lecturer will drive the advancement of spatial design scholarship and practice through innovative and translational research, working closely and collaboratively with the Design Research Labs. They will operate within a community of academics, practitioners, students and external stakeholders in government and private industry in order to expand the fields of design practice and research; and demonstrate design's impact within both current and future scenarios. The Senior Lecturer will contribute to our studio culture which supports an interdisciplinary philosophy that contributes to social equity, speculative thinking and real-world impact.

An emphasis on the quality of human experiences in public and private spaces is increasingly valued for its social and economic impacts across cultures. In this context spatial designers play a pivotal role in the activation of real, virtual, public and private engagement, integrating technologies, lived experience and other aspects of design knowledge into spatial practices. Applicants will be expected to show evidence of their practice and research in areas of Spatial or Interior Design.
