The Monash Business School operates across all three Australian campuses (Caulfield, Clayton and Peninsula) and, together with the business school in Malaysia, makes up Monash University's Faculty of Business and Economics. It is structured into seven discipline-based departments (Accounting, Banking and Finance, Business Law and Taxation, Econometrics and Business Statistics, Economics, Management, and Marketing) as well as a number of research centres, units and groups in specialist areas such as behavioural economics, development economics, employment and work, and retail studies. To learn more about the Monash Business School, please visit our website, www.monash.edu/business.

The Department of Econometrics and Business Statistics is recognised worldwide for the quality of its research and teaching. A defining characteristic of the research conducted by the Department is the development of cutting-edge new methodology and theoretical results in econometrics and statistics, and the translation of new methodology into open source software. Consistent with their expertise, departmental staff also provide training for a high proportion of all PhD students in econometrics and business statistics in Australia.

As a testament to the quality of the Department's research output, Monash was given the highest possible rating (5) in Econometrics in the 2012, 2015 and 2018 Excellence in Research for Australia assessments conducted by the Australian Research Council (ARC). The Department is ranked in the top 10 institutions in the fields of Econometrics, Time Series and Forecasting by IDEAS (a Research Papers in Economics service maintained by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, USA).

We provide the quantitative training in the Bachelor of Business, the Bachelor of Commerce, the Bachelor of Economics, the Bachelor of Finance and the Bachelor of Actuarial Science, as well as several Masters by Coursework programs, and we offer a comprehensive curriculum at the undergraduate and postgraduate levels in theoretical and applied econometrics, business analytics and actuarial studies. Many of our senior staff are editors and associate editors of reputable academic journals in econometrics and statistics and we enjoy significant success in gaining competitive ARC grants, industry-based grants, and contract research. For more information about our Department and the work we do, please visit our website: www.monash.edu/business/ebs.

Econometrics at Monash University is a well-established discipline in the Department of Econometrics and Business Statistics, with an undergraduate and honours degree that incorporates majors in econometrics and the mathematical foundations of econometrics and a postgraduate coursework program that includes a master of applied econometrics. The department has a high level of national and international research activities.
